

Trumanism Cited Big Vote Issue Nixon Appealing For GOP Congress

St. Louis, Sept. 18 (AP)—Vice President Nixon singled out what he called "Trumanism" here last night as the big 1954 campaign issue.

He called on the same voters, "Republicans, Democrats and independents," who sent President Eisenhower to the White House in 1952 to go back to the polls and give him another Republican Congress in November.

In a speech at a $100-a-plate Republican fund raising dinner, Nixon said the issues now are the same as they were in 1952.

The issue, he said, is the "Eisenhower record versus a return to Trumanism."

ON A 31-STATE campaign tour he said he was waging for the sole purpose of helping elect a working Republican majority in Congress in the Nov. 2 general election, the vice president intensified his criticism of the Truman administration in his swing across the former president's home state of Missouri.

He said 34 million citizens voted in 1952 by the greatest majority in American political history to get rid of the "mess" under the Truman administration, a mess he said was made up of Korea, communism, controls and corruption.

HE SAID in its first 20 months the Eisenhower administration had made big strides in "cleaning up the mess in Washington but there is a lot more to be done on the constructive side."

Applauded frequently by some 900 of the party faithful who staged a flag waving demonstration before he began to speak, Nixon said that unless President Eisenhower gets a Republican Congress his program "will be stymied."

During the Eisenhower administration, he said, both the war in Korea and fighting in Indochina has ended and "for the first time in 12 years the world in which we live is at peace."

"The Truman-Acheson policy got us into war," Nixon said. "The Eisenhower-Dulles policy got us out of war."

THE VICE PRESIDENT said the government is spending less money in the field of foreign aid today but despite the cut in spending the nation is stronger militarily.

Nixon, who turned toward South Dakota today where he speaks at Huron tonight, said the Eisenhower administration has cut 12 billion dollars from the federal budget and as a result gave the taxpayers their biggest tax cut in the nation's history—7½ billion dollars.

Earlier yesterday, Nixon spoke at Nevada Mo., and Fort Scott, Kan., before flying here in a chartered plane.

Two Escapees Are Still at Large in Atlanta Manhunt

Atlanta, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Atlanta federal penitentiary's biggest break in history left two prisoners at large today after baying bloodhounds led to the capture of two others last night.

Yesterday's escapees, George H. Evans of Douglassville, Pa., and Charles Richard Perry of Memphis, Tenn., both 29, slipped through a sewer pipe yesterday afternoon to short-lived freedom. They emerged in a woodland several hundred yards from the prison walls.

PRISON OFFICIALS said that when bloodhounds found the trail the pair split up. They were captured only a few hours apart last night.

Two others, George Ellis, 29, and Charles Edward Stegall, 36, made their getaway Wednesday through the same sewer. Ward W. Hardwick said they twisted an opening in a barred grill that covered the sewer and then slithered to freedom.

Despite an intensive search after Ellis and Stegall escaped, guards at the prison did not discover the sewer opening.

ACROSS THE NATION at Carson City, Nev., three convicts seized a guard as hostage and rammed their way in a milk truck through a gateway of the Nevada state prison Friday morning.

The guard, 59-year-old George Miller, was found dead in the truck a half-mile from the prison. All three convicts were quickly recaptured. One of the trio, Gene T. Liebig, a 19-year-old Minnesota gunman, was badly wounded.

Wrens on Food Strike

Lee-on-Solent, England, Sept. 18 (AP)—Two hundred "Wrens"—of the Women's Royal Naval Service—are on hunger strike. They find navy food too fattening.

SMILING TRUMAN—Former President Harry S. Truman on Sept. 17 held his first press conference since his illness and operation. When asked by a reporter as to the number of "get well" cards he had received, Truman showed the group some of the "about five bushels" of greetings. Truman said he would not go on a campaigning tour but is "willing to do anything I can, but not what I want to do." He is still under the doctor's control. The press conference was held in his offices in downtown Kansas City. (AP Wirephoto)

Democrat Wrangle May Cut Adlai's Audience

Indianapolis, Sept. 18 (AP)—Democrats maintained a nationally optimistic attitude today despite a bitter intraparty battle which threatened to present Adlai E. Stevenson a cut-price audience tonight for a congressional campaign kick-off address.

Stevenson, scheduled for an appearance at a luncheon of Indiana editors and a major speech tonight, had little advance notice of what appeared to be a squabble between his supporters and the Democratic organization regulars for control of the party machinery.

THIS CONFLICT had progressed to the point where Stephen A. Mitchell, national chairman, told a reporter his organization had been forced to halt the printing of tonight's formal program, featuring Stevenson as the principal speaker, to insert a picture of former President Truman.

Stevenson, former Illinois governor, was the party's 1952 presidential nominee. His picture already was in the program.

DEWEY DEPARTED soon afterward to spend the weekend in Owosso, Mich., with his mother. Both men will be in Syracuse Monday night, and they are expected to confer again then.

Ives skirted questions about the GOP platform by saying, "I'm not trying to dictate a platform—all I want is one I can run on." But he did say, "I imagine there will be something" on compulsory automobile liability insurance, a Dewey program measure blocked in the Senate this year.

Ives also said he was leaving it up to Dewey to decide what the party should do about selecting candidates for the Court of Appeals.

IN THE PAST Republicans and Democrats have agreed to endorse each other's candidates for the court, but there have been reports of difficulty over an agreement this year.

If the parties were unable to agree on endorsements, there would be races for one or more of the four seats to be filled. Chief Judge Edmund H. Lewis of Skaneateles, a Republican, will retire at the end of this year, and the terms of Associate Judges Albert Conway of Brooklyn and Charles S. Desmond of Buffalo, both Democrats, will expire.

Associate Judge John Van Voorhis of Irondequoit, a Republican, must stand for election for a full 14-year term in a post he now holds by appointment from Dewey.

One proposal is for the Republicans to endorse two Democrats—Conway for chief judge and Desmond for re-election—and the Democrats to endorse two Republicans—Van Voorhis and Sydney F. Foster of Liberty, presiding judge of the Appellate Division, Third Department.

Fined for Speeding

Richard Pelaez of 101 West 106th street, New York, who was arrested Sept. 15 on Broadway near Albany avenue charged with speeding 50 m.p.h., pleaded guilty in City Court this morning and was fined $15 by Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Two Die as Plane Crashes and Burns

Shelton, Conn., Sept. 18 (AP)—A man and a woman were killed here yesterday when their single engine amphibian plane crashed and burned soon after taking off from the Housatonic river.

The plane landed in a brook on a steep, rugged hillside above the river near the Shelton-Monroe town line.

It was not until state police from the Bethany barracks and inspectors from the State Aeronautes Department reached the scene that it was known definitely that there were two victims.

HOURS AFTER the crash Dr. Joseph J. Pagliaro, medical examiner, identified the pilot as Alvaro Mellini, 31, of 39 Henry Street, Bridgeport, and 101-21 44th avenue, Corona, N. Y. Dr. Pagliaro said there was nothing among the effects of Mellini's (Continued on Page 10, Col. 6)

2 Key AFL Officials Bolt To Rival ILA Dock Union

New York, Sept. 18 (AP)—Two key officials of the AFL Dock Workers have bolted to the rival International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.).

The AFL's International Brotherhood of Longshoremen suffered double jolt yesterday when John Dwyer, an IBL international vice president, and James Egan, secretary-treasurer of the group, urged some 400 followers to pull out of the new union and return to the ILA. Dwyer and Egan both charged "desertion" by the AFL in a work stoppage at Grace Line pier 45.

Dwyer last fall left a $10,000-a-year job as hiring boss on pier 45 to join the AFL union and fight the ILA for supremacy on the waterfront.

Last Thursday he was hired on as an assistant at pier 45 by hiring boss William Kucinskas, not

Report May Come Early On Senator Johnson Would Get Election Over

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said today he looks for an early Senate committee report—perhaps by the middle of next week—on censure charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

However, Johnson, vice chairman of a special committee that has been studying those charges, said he feels the Senate should wait until after the November elections before tackling the matter.

"October will not provide a wholesome atmosphere for decision of such a question," Johnson said in an interview. He added that he doubted "calm, considered judgment" of the issue would be possible in the heat of an election campaign.

IN ADVANCE for a closed door meeting (10 a.m., EST) of the committee, Chairman Watkins (R-Utah), declared to say whether he agreed with Johnson's forecast of the timing of a report. He has already said he was aiming for an Oct. 1 deadline.

Sen. Ervin (D-N.C.), another committee member, said in a separate interview he hopes the report on the censure case can be completed by mid-week, but he declined to discuss the matter further.

The committee of three Democrats and three Republicans last Monday finished nine days of public hearings on the censure charges which Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) initiated in the closing days of the recent congressional session.

FLANDERS CALLED on the Senate to censure McCarthy for what the Vermont Republican contended was conduct unbefitting a senator and tending to bring the Senate into disrepute.

Subsequently, he and Sens. Fulbright (D-Ark.) and Morse (Ind.-Ore.) filed 46 partially overlapping charges to support the censure resolution.

Flanders last night made public a letter to Watkins in which he wrote that McCarthy had attacked other senators in vulgar and base language impugning the integrity and loyalty of individual senators and degrading the dignity of the Senate as an institution of American public life.

MCCARTHY'S OFFICE said he was not available for comment. Flanders' letter was dated Sept. 10 and he said it was sent pursuant to the committee's announcement that it would receive information informally to help it in its investigation.

VA Issues New Deadline Dates For GI Training

F. William Sheehan, officer in charge, Veterans' Administration, 286 Fair street, announced today that the Veterans Administration has issued a new round-up of dates and deadlines for veterans training under the World War 2 and Korean GI Bills, and under Public Law 16 for the disabled. The roundup includes changes in deadlines dates under a new law which went in effect August 20. Under the Korean GI Bill, most veterans must begin training within three years after their separation from service. Those who

CHIROPRACTORS point to the effectiveness of treatment based on this principle by results obtained by chiropractors in millions of cases during the past half century of research and development. Precise clinical findings, it is claimed, have been revealed in the research laboratories of the B. J. Palmer Chiropractic Clinic at Davenport, Iowa.

The chiropractic profession has attained legal recognition in all but a few of the jurisdictions of the North American continent and is also recognized in many overseas countries.

THE LEAGUE is composed of Americans of Italian descent, who seek a place on the state ticket for one of their members thereby enabling the entire slate to more effectively appeal for support of more than 1,200,000 voters of the same lineage.

"Some of our Republican leaders are too cocky," Lamula said.

"Failure to see the cracks in the wall could lead to chaos in November."

The party must heed the warning in Maine, he stressed, "broaden its base with a ticket composed of strong representative grass roots candidates, or face disaster."

"We must espouse a vigorous and progressive program," La-mula said, "catering to the people of New York state with a real team headed not only by our distinguished Senator Irving M. Ives, but supported by strong representative candidates whose choice would prove that the Republican party appeals to the great masses with representatives from their ranks."

AFTER SELECTING a strong team, he stressed, "we must give them a platform to take to the people of the Empire State that fully implements the great job of our distinguished Governor" (Continued on Page 10, Col. 4)

BANK EXPLAINS WAYS USED IN ALLEGED EMBEZZLING

In a statement by an official of the Ulster County Savings Institution Friday afternoon it was pointed out that the accusation of embezzlement by Francis M. Cronk, Jr., 31-year-old bank teller, had been confined to only a very few inactive accounts and the depositors in each instance had been known personally to Cronk and they had placed the greatest confidence in him. Only because of these facts was it possible for the embezzlement to continue since accounts in the bank are balanced daily.

The official said the error had been discovered by employees of

Chiropractors Are Observing 59th Year of Practice

Albany, Sept. 18 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives and Gov. Dewey were out of town and keeping their lips buttoned tight today on their choices for Ives' running mates on the Republican state ticket.

Ives, a shoo-in to become the GOP nominee for governor, gave a cue for silence yesterday. He said he and Dewey had agreed to "hold up everything until we get to Syracuse" on who would run for lieutenant governor, attorney general and comptroller.

THE SENATOR told newsmen after a two-hour talk with the governor that Dewey personally would put Ives' name before the state convention opening Wednesday in Syracuse. But he insisted that the rest of the slate was "open entirely."

However, Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern is held to be lapsing the field as a choice for lieutenant governor.

And there is mounting belief that the Republicans will settle on Rep. Jacob K. Javits of Manhattan for attorney general and either Assemblyman Joseph F. Carline of Long Beach or Rep. Henry Latham of Queens for comptroller.

Ives, who has spoken highly of all four men, would say only that "a multitude" of candidates was discussed but nothing was decided. Then he left to spend the weekend at his home in Norwich, writing an acceptance speech and conferring with GOP leaders by telephone.

Frank McKinney, former national chairman, said in a separate interview that the Mitchell organization, which controls the National Committee, had failed to sell the 1,000 seats at a $100-a-plate dinner which the party hoped to chalk up in a drive to relieve what Mitchell had said is a financial pinch for Democratic candidates all over the nation.

McKinney, who once was Truman's favorite national chairman, said that tickets for tonight's Stevenson dinner address are being hawked without too many takers at $7.50 each. He said he and banker friends had supplied most of the $100 contributions that had been registered.

MICHELL SAID he had no doubt that "a former official" of the committee was attempting to make him and Paul M. Butler, Indiana national committee and South Bend attorney who may be in line to succeed Mitchell as national chairman, look bad on Stevenson's appearance here.

The contrast which Mitchell

Fish Quits Over Bar to Politics

Chicago, Sept. 18 (AP)—The For America organization accepted former Rep. Hamilton Fish's resignation—four days before he threatened to resign publicly unless the organization returned to what he termed its original concept for political action.

Fish one of the founders of For America, said in New York yesterday that he discovered a clause in the organization's charter which in effect prohibited political activity.

This, he said, made the organization "utterly, totally useless." He added that 90 per cent of For America members agree with his view.

HE SAID if the organization's executive committee didn't act to meet his objections he would release a letter Tuesday announcing his resignation.

But a few hours after Fish made his public announcement the organization's executive committee, meeting in Chicago, announced Fish's resignation had been accepted.

the bank and the alleged embezzlement had been made possible by forging the names of the depositors in a few instances on inactive accounts.

Speaking for the trustees and officers of the banking house it was said the alleged embezzlement had been discovered several days ago by officers

Prime Whole Sash When Setting Glass

The number of old houses in which the original window panes still remain is ample proof of the efficient way in which they were set. This method, still much used today, consists of priming the entire sash with paint. The reason for doing this is that putty adheres to paint much more firmly than to raw wood. The rabbits — or grooves — are then filled with good quality putty, into this, you set the glass and secure it with glazing points. Next, put more putty along the glass-edge to exclude outside moisture from seeping between sash and pane. Last, paint the entire sash allowing a narrow border of paint to run over on the edge of the window glass as well.

On windows where panes have become loose, remove all the old putty — not just the putty which has loosened. If part of the putty has fallen out, the rest will eventually follow.

Restoring Cedar

If you have a cedar chest or cedar closet that no longer has the pleasant cedar aroma, give the wood a light scraping or sanding. This will remove dirt and expose cells in the wood containing the aromatic oils. Never coat cedar with a finish for this seals in the odor.

Waterproof Walls Before Ivy Grows

Ivy enhances the beauty of many walls of brick or masonry, but sometimes is objected to on the basis that it holds moisture and keeps the walls damp. A preventive measure for such a condition is the application of a transparent waterproofing compound, or two coats of spar varnish to the walls before the ivy has covered them. It is possible to apply the same treatment after the ivy is in place, if one does not mind the awkwardness of getting under the ivy and making the application.

If ivy is temporarily detached from walls to facilitate painting, one garden authority suggests that small strips of leather be tacked across the vines at strategic points when the ivy is returned to place.

Paint Screen Door

When you're painting a room that has a door leading to the outside world, remember to paint the inside of the screen door — even if it's still in the garage or basement. Then, when summer comes, it will be ready to become a unified part of the newly painted room.

Removing Chewing Gum

Chewing gum paint and similar sticky substances can be removed from composition floors by scraping the stuff off before it hardens and then washing what stain remains with a mild solution of trisodium phosphate and water.

When to Paint

The best time to paint base-mold floors is in early spring, late fall or winter when base-mold are heated, dry and free from summer condensation.

Bricks Without Straw

Although popular belief has it that you can't make brick without straw, the use of such filler material has long been abandoned by modern brickmakers.

Rush and cane chair seats won't become soiled so easily if they are given a coat of linseed oil. Just apply a light coat and wipe off the excess with a clean soft cloth. Be sure the seats are clean to begin with before this treatment. They can be washed with warm water and a mild soap.

Mending Insulation

Boiler and pipe insulation can be repaired with asbestos cement which is mixed with water to form a paste and then worked into the openings. Clean the openings first and dampen the edges before applying the cement.

Don't Let Door Bang

A door that constantly bangs against a plaster wall isn't doing the plaster, the wall decorations or the door much good. It's a good idea to fasten rubber-tipped door stops to the baseboard or floor and put an end to this sort of thing.

Wax Window Casings

After painting the woodwork around windows, try giving it a coat of wax. This will make the paint keep its bright appearance longer and also make cleaning easier.

Curtain Tips

Remember when choosing figured materials for curtains that sprawling designs make the windows look shorter and broader. Stripes make them look higher, but if too much striped material is used it gives a stiff effect.

Shellac Bureau Drawers

If bureau drawers have a habit of sticking, coat them with shellac. This will prevent them from absorbing moisture, swelling and sticking. Be sure the drawers are bone dry before applying the shellac.

Stop Sewer Odors

Sewer odors in a basement or utility room can be caused by water having evaporated from traps under the floor drain. The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau says pouring at least a gallon of water into such drains often solves the problem.

Good Wood Filler

Ordinary sawdust mixed with a wood glue to form a paste makes a very good filler for woodwork. For very fine work, the sawdust should be from the same kind of wood that is being repaired.

Shellac for Wallpaper

It is a good idea to apply a thin coating of white shellac to wallpaper, especially in the nursery. A shellac finish will leave the colors of the paper unchanged and will render the paper spot-proof and washable with a damp cloth.

Moss on the Roof

If moss is growing on the roof of your house and you don't like it, spray the roof with a 10 per cent solution of chloride during a dry spell. Sprinkling with dry Bordeaux powder will also do the trick.

Beds for Small Fry

New double-decker beds for youngsters may make things more comfortable for the small fry. They have bookcase headboards in which children may keep reading matter, radios and favorite toys. They sell for about $50.

Fairly Moist Soil Needed for Mums

From now on the hardy garden chrysanthemums must be supplied with enough water to keep the soil moderately moist. Plants that produce flowers before their normal season usually act that way because of drought conditions. While there may be cases where these early blooms are much appreciated, the flower display never comes anywhere close to what the plant would do later if properly cared for.

Instead of plain water, liquid manure diluted to the color of weak tea will give them the strength to produce an especially fine display. Pulverized cow or sheep manure, which is available almost everywhere, is as satisfactory as farm manure.

Fill a bag half full of manure and suspend it in a bucket or barrel of water for a day or two for use on the plants after it has been diluted to the proper strength. To prevent the bag from floating add stone heavy enough to hold it below the water line.

Lacquers Come In Spray Bomb

Tough, quick-drying lacquers in aerosol containers which act as spray guns are now available in many stores for home painting jobs.

For some time manufacturers of major home appliances, such as refrigerators, have been using lacquers in "bomb" type containers for touching up finishes that had been accidentally marred.

New research now makes it possible to package any type of paint suitable for spraying in this automatic container.

The dispensers contain a coating material and a propellant. They are usually packaged in 12-ounce cylinders at a temperature low enough to keep the propellant in a liquid state.

Another revolution has taken place in today's kitchen. The statue and needs of the homemaker are the ruling guide. Most work surfaces and counters are 36 inches high, but recent research showed that a special mixing counter at a slightly lower level saves backstrain in certain kitchen tasks, such as baking. This lower surface also permits sitting down to work.

Storage areas, too, have undergone changes resulting from research into kitchen efficiency. It has been learned that the average housewife can conveniently reach a storage shelf installed at 72 inches above the floor. Architects and designers who set the pace in modern home construction are giving matters such as these serious thought, on the theory that doing it right is no more expensive than doing it in the ordinary manner.

There is more equipment provided for in the modern kitchen, too, such as laundry appliances. Designers have found it expedient to add the laundry area to the kitchen.

White in Bathroom

Bright white shower curtains are wonderful in summer. The bathroom takes on a delightfully cool look, especially relaxing during warm weather when you soak in the tub.

Adds Beauty to Stone

It's wise to give flagstone floors and hearths a coat of clear penetrating floor sealer. This will give them a semi gloss finish and will bring out the color of the stone. It also prevents staining. The floor may then be waxed.

Examine the Roots

In buying amaryllis bulbs, be sure that the white, flashy roots are intact. If they are injured or destroyed, the plant will flower the first, but not the second year.

RED NAVY IS CATCHING UP

In all our calculations of American military might, we properly put first emphasis upon our acknowledged lead in nuclear weapons. But ever since World War II we have also taken it pretty much for granted that in any future war the United States would surely have control of the seas.

No one has been blind to the tremendous growth of Russia's submarine fleet, but it has been just as plain that our total naval forces were vastly superior to Moscow's.

Therefore, it comes as a definite shock to hear from no less a source than our own Navy that the Soviet Union may supplant this country as the top naval power by 1964 if its present pace of naval expansion—relative to our development—continues.

Looking at the huge land armies Russia can muster, we have comforted ourselves with the thought that whatever edge the Soviets have there we could take off by our clear advantage on the seas and air the air.

As we have seen in other recent reports, our margin of air superiority may be dwindling. To learn that our naval edge is also diminishing is not easy to take.

Ten years ago Russia's fleet ranked seventh in the world. Today it stands second. The Russian navy already exceeds America's in manpower. And Moscow is bent on passing us in number of vessels as well.

The Soviet sub fleet of some 350, about 40 per cent of which are long-range types, is nothing terribly new to us. But read these figures released by our own Navy:

In cruisers, Russia has 13 large, light ships matching the best we have. This total is greater than that we have presently active.

The Soviets have 125 destroyers against our 175, but more than 50 of Russia's are fast, well-armed craft built since World War II. We have done little in that span, and Moscow has a larger building program for destroyers than all Western navies combined.

Where we still retain a decisive superiority is in aircraft carriers. So far as is known, Russia has none at this time, though it has a number of shipyards capable of building them, as well as the largest battleships.

Russia does have, however, some 3500 land-based planes in its fleet air arm, including many jet fighters and light jet bombers.

The U. S. Navy noted that Russia's fleet has four main divisions, with the largest in the Baltic Sea. A newly developed canal and river system makes it possible to shift many smaller naval craft from one operating theatre to another under ideal protection.

Our strategists believe that Russia, the great "land" force, is definitely bent on creating a great deep-sea navy to outstrip any in the world.

To those complacent ones who think we can never be headed on the sea or in the air, to those misguided ones who think Russia is devoted to peace and has abandoned plans for world conquest, we recommend a second reading of these estimates. They are not comforting.

Play time at school must be frustrating to some young demons. There is hardly anything they aren't allowed to do.

THE VAINER SEX

Which is the vain sex? The Census Bureau announces that last year barber shops did half a billion dollars worth of business, and beauty shops lagged $3,000,000 behind. This was not always so. In 1948 the beauty shops were reported to hold a good lead.

Whether or not the inference is justified that men are vainer than women, it will be generally admitted that men have less to show for their expenditures on personal appearance. The women start with some natural advantages.

Daylight saving time has nearly run its course, and man is about to enjoy a rare reward: an extra hour's sleep without even trying.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE COMPLETE MAN

I have often wondered what a complete man is. Many of the great musicians and philosophers were physically not fit by ordinary standards. Beethoven lived to be 57 but he was deaf; Mozart wrote glorious music but he was tubercular; Aristotle was the master philosopher but he was not an athlete.

The complete man is, of course, perfect. He is a Jove in wisdom, an Apollo in beauty, a Cato in oratory, and a Hercules in strength, all combined in one. Stalin regarded himself as a complete man and ordered the Soviet poets to sing paens to his superiority but he died and was laid out like any other stiff.

The "Manchester Guardian" has apparently discovered the complete man and, as surprising as it is, the editors of that wonderful newspaper found him in the United States:

"Dr. Oppenheimer is one of the most eloquent of American scientists; he is perhaps as near as anybody can get in these complicated days to the complete man. Before leaving high school he was reading Horace without a dictionary and composing French sonnets, as well as taking all the science prizes. When he left Harvard he came to Cambridge to study nuclear physics under Rutherford and Thomson and then moved on to Goettingen, Zurich and Leiden. He was teaching physics in California when he was called to head atomic bomb development at Los Alamos. There he directed a staff of 4,500 for two and a half years and finished looking as emaciated as a prisoner of war."

"When the first bomb was exploded in New Mexico his first thought was a line from the Bhagavadgita (he reads Sanskrit and five other languages): 'I am become death, the shatterer of worlds.'

There is more of this but enough has been given to establish the "Manchester Guardian's" claims that Dr. Oppenheimer is a complete man; yet the 992 pages of testimony concerning his relations with Communists while he was making the atom bomb causes one to wonder whether the man is not loose with the truth, whether he is capable of sound judgment. For instance, he found himself in contact with Steve Nelson, a Communist of tremendous importance in the Party. So he was asked by Colonel Lansdale about Nelson. This is the colloquy:

"Lansdale. . . . Do you have anyone who is close to you, no that's the wrong word, who is an acquaintance of yours, who may have perhaps been a guest in your house, whom you perhaps knew through friends or relatives who is a member of the Communist Party. By that I mean—"

"Oppenheimer. My brother, obviously."

"Lansdale. Well, no, I don't mean him."

"Oppenheimer. I think probably you mean someone who just visited for a few hours."

"Lansdale. Yes."

"Oppenheimer. Yes, certainly, the answer to that is certainly, yes."

"Lansdale. Would you care to give me any of their names?"

"Oppenheimer. There is a girl called Eldred Nelson."

Then he is asked at the recent hearings about this question, Board Counsel Robb questioning:

"Q. Do you know a girl called Eldred Nelson?"

"A. No, I know a man by that name."

"Q. Who was he?"

"A. He was a student of mine. At the risk of finding I said something else 10 years ago. I would say he was not a Communist."

"Q. Having heard Colonel Lansdale's question about whether you had any acquaintance of yours who might have been a guest in your house, whom you knew perhaps through friends and relatives, is it now clear to you who Colonel Lansdale was talking about?"

"A. I don't know. It might well be Steve Nelson."

"Q. Isn't that pretty plain?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. Why didn't you mention Steve Nelson?"

"A. I seem to have mentioned a Nelson."

"Q. Eldred."

"A. Eldred Nelson is not a girl. He is not a Communist. I think this only adds to my confusion about it."

Throughout the hearings, Oppenheimer answers in this vein, covering up, hiding identities, confusing his interrogators. It is not believable that a person whose mind is so devious and whose associations are so one-sidedly Communist, and whose relations with these Communists are so close and intimate can possibly be a complete man. Being able to read Sanskrit is not quite as essential as sound judgment for the complete man—if even such a creature could live in this world. (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

CHILD WITH RHEUMATIC HEART DISEASE

"When a person is told he has heart disease, the foundations of his normal existence are shaken to their roots. The fear of death often leaves him helpless, unable to work and earn a living. At best, the prejudice of industry to the employment of the cardiac (a person with heart trouble) makes the situation very difficult. To obtain employment, the cardiac is forced to deny the existence of heart disease and he must compete with robust individuals." I am quoting Dr. Abraham Jezer, in Medical Clinics of North America. He is stressing the point that it is the emotional factors experienced by persons with cardiac trouble that often disable them more than the actual heart disease.

Russia does have, however, some 3500 land-based planes in its fleet air arm, including many jet fighters and light jet bombers.

The U. S. Navy noted that Russia's fleet has four main divisions, with the largest in the Baltic Sea. A newly developed canal and river system makes it possible to shift many smaller naval craft from one operating theatre to another under ideal protection.

In considering the case of children with rheumatic heart disease following rheumatic fever, he has found that there are three main reasons for disability caused by emotional factors as follows:

1. Limitation of Play and Work Since Childhood. For the child, play takes the place of work done by the adult. When limitations on play are made, the entire course of the child's life becomes disrupted. Later when the limitations are eased, many find themselves unable to adjust to a normal work and find it difficult to accept and adjust themselves to employment in industry.

2. Overanxiety of Parents. It is natural that parents should worry about a child with a leaking valve in the heart, thinking it means a short life, which is entirely untrue. Because the parents, especially the mother, worries so much she expresses it in oversolicitude toward the child and this later becomes the reason for the difficult adjustment some cardiac children have to make when regular employment becomes necessary for him.

3. Anxiety Transferred by the Physician. The fact that rheumatic fever is the leading cause of death from infection in children, also the fact that rheumatic carditis (inflammation of the heart) recurs and leads to heart failure twenty to thirty years after the first attack combine to make the physician's outlook gloomy. This gloom is easily detected by both parent and child. Overcautious advice on the part of the physician tends to destroy the child's initiative and zest for living and as a result there frequently develops a severe functional overlay (caused by the emotions and not by the actual condition of the heart) in the form of palpitations and weakness. These complaints are sometimes due to physical factors, but most of the time to purely emotional ones.

It has been estimated that these three factors play a large part in limiting the employability of about 10 per cent of persons with heart trouble.

"How should South play the accompanying hand?" asks a San Francisco correspondent. "West opened the king of diamonds, continued with the jack of diamonds, and then led the ten of diamonds at the third trick. "South ruffed the third diamond in his hand, discarding the jack of clubs from the dummy. He considered an immediate finesse of dummy's jack of hearts, but decided instead to play the ace and king of trumps. This turned out to be fatal.

"If declarer then led a third trump, West would win with the queen and lead another diamond. Dummy would run out of trumps, and West would win a second trick and two more diamonds. And if declarer abandoned trumps, West would eventually make two trump tricks.

"Some of the kibitzers (there are many of this species in San Francisco, and we will back their lungpower against the best that the East can produce) argued that South should have begun the trumps by finessing the

Two Prisma Exchange Students Tell Of Contrast in Summer in Europe

Finding it difficult to believe they're once more back in classes at Kingston High School after an eventful summer abroad, Miss Sande Galate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Galate, 16 Hewitt Place, and Miss Nancy Ellsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ellsworth of Port Ewen, Prisma exchange students, said they enjoyed every minute of it, and want to go back again.

Sande, dark haired and serious, took an almost studious attitude toward her summer in a village near Kiel, Germany, where she was guest of Dr. and Mrs. Klaus Hauschildt and their four children. Interviewed at the KHS guidance office Thursday, she said that her "sister," the 15-year-old daughter with whom she spent much of her time, led a much quieter life than her counterpart here.

"She spoke very fine English," said Sande telling about Katrina, "and she and her parents welcomed me like one of the family."

Sande had a moment of misgivings about the trip on the train to Kiel, but once greeted by the Hauschildts, felt right at home.

By way of contrast, Nancy, who also stayed with a doctor and his family in Zwolle, Holland, was sailing on the Zuider Zee her first weekend, and spent much of her time in blue jeans and Bermuda shorts. "The jeans attracted too much attention in Arka, a tiny village where we stopped that first weekend," Nancy laughed, "that we were followed by crowds of little children."

NANCY ADMIREd the bold, polders, or land reclaimed from the sea, and enjoyed the native costumes of the "baggy breeches and the red and white striped shirts on the Dutch men." She saw much of the Dutch countryside on a four-day bike trip with Aug. 19-year-old daughter of the Van Haes.

The doctor phoned his many friends all over the country and we stopped and visited them. Everyone was very friendly," said Nancy. "I wanted to cross the border to Germany on the trip," Nancy explained, "and the customs man wanted to know if I planned to stay, since he didn't see any baggage or anything." She smiled, "When I told him I wanted to go just to get my passport stamped, he said go ahead. So I did."

The girls rode 15 kilometers the first day, then sped up to 50 for the other three, riding past farmlands, forests which were all cleaned out, on the special bicycle paths through the country. Nancy had a wonderful time in Zwolle, with the family of four teen-agers and the doctor and his wife.

Next, she went to a suburb of Haarlem, where she was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Laeijendecker and their children, Mienka, the daughter, aged 18 and the son, aged 19.

AND DATING? When Katrina goes out with a boy, there always has to be an older person along. She never goes out alone with him. This is their custom," Sande explained. When Katrina is 19, she graduates from the school and enters a university where she will study medicine.

The summer was a cold one, so that Sande went in swimming once. She found the sauna or Finnish bath on the Hauschildt property, a new experience.

And discovered that her 35 pounds of baggage, including the usual teen-age wardrobe, was greeted by Katrina with nothing less than astonishment as her own wardrobe far contained fewer ensembles.

"And everyone in the farming region wearing wooden shoes," she said excitedly, "because the ground is so soggy, that leather would rot." There were no tulips, but "fields and fields of dahlias" were striking to her. "Everyone has flowers, whether there is a mansion or a shack, and there are wonderful flower gardens right in the middle of the street."

Naturally, she tried the famous Holland cheese, and sent eight pounds home, "but it's all gone now!" Nancy sounded disappointed. She liked the food, "simple but good," is her description.

Mostly, though, she felt very much at home with the families, since they all spoke English, and lived very much as we do at home. Nancy thinks things have changed since the war, with life becoming more casual. She attended several services at the Dutch churches, noticing how similar they are to those at the Port Ewen church where she is a member. She feels that people are "very religious" in Holland.

Her Paris jaunt took her to the top of the Eiffel Tower, and to the other places that Sande

Bobby Avila Makes Bid For MVP in American As Tribe Nears Pennant

By BEN PHLEGAR

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bobby Avila's stock rose to new heights today in the race for the most valuable player in the American League.

The peppy Cleveland second baseman, almost a shoo-in for the batting title, made himself personally responsible for at least a share in the pennant with a grand slam home run in Detroit last night.

The blast gave the Indians their eighth straight victory and made certain that they will still be in first place on the last day of the season.

The liner into the lower left field seats of Briggs Stadium brought an end to the five-year dominance of the New York Yankees who would have to win all of their remaining games and have the Indians lose all of theirs to gain even a tie.

AVILA MADE THE difference since the final score was 6-3 and the count was even at 2-2 when he came to bat with the bases loaded in the seventh.

It was quite a day for Avila. Before the game he bought a ball club, the Mexico City entry in the Mexican Winter League. Avila said it cost him "mucho pesos."

His home run made it a lead pipe cinch that he'll collect a good share of those pesos from the World Series.

The Yankees were making what probably will be their last visit to Philadelphia when the bad news came in from Detroit. They had just mauled the hapless Athletics 10-3 for their 98th victory. They'll probably win more than 100 games, something no other runner-up ever has done in the American League.

In the National League both the New York Giants and the Brooklyn Dodgers were beaten but Milwaukee prolonged its faint chance with a 6-4 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Giants bowed to Robin Roberts and the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3. Brooklyn committed five errors in losing to last place Pittsburgh 9-1 in the Dodgers' worst games of the year.

IN OTHER ACTION the Baltimore Orioles defeated Chicago 5-1 on two-run home runs by Bob Kennedy and Chuck Diering and Dean Stone of the Senators backed up his own three-hitter with a three-run homer as Washington swamped Boston 8-0.

Bob Lemon posted his 23rd victory for Cleveland tops in both leagues. He allowed six hits. Al Rosen's two-run homer in the first sent the Indians off to a lead but Detroit tied it in the sixth with the help of errors by Avila and Al Smith.

Avila's homer was his 14th of the season and his first with the bases full.

Lefty Tommy Byrne checked the Athletics on eight hits and drove in three of the Yankee runs with two doubles and a single.

The Braves bull pen stopped the Cardinals on three hits in the last six innings. Dave Jolly, second of four pitchers, received credit for his 10th success. A triple by Bill Bruton, Danny O'Connell's single, a double by Eddie Mathews and an error produced the winning runs in the fifth after St. Louis had tied the score at 4-4 in the fourth.

been paid by a duly authorized pay-roll clerk and Cronk had no access to the payroll records, and a statement that "he gave himself a raise of $1,000 without the knowledge of the bank" had been Cronk's statement and indicated he had told friends he was making more money than he actually earned.

Speaking for the bank, President Pratt Boice said, the total amount taken from the bank was "about $4,400," and the amount was so small that it had been possible for forged withdrawal slips in small amounts to be made out without immediate detection.

An official of the bank pointed out that each day a cash check is made and each employee's cash is checked against his account at the close of business, making it impossible to have a cash shortage.

Insurance covering depositors accounts is carried by the bank insuring all accounts and it was pointed out that in addition to the insurance which completely reimbursed the bank for any loss the bank assets are so large that "everyone knows a depositor can't lose funds on deposit" in any insured banking house in the state.

"We have been fully reimbursed by the insurance company," a spokesman said.

Cronk had been employed by the bank for eight years and the utmost confidence had been placed in his ability, it was said, until the alleged forgeries were discovered and the investigation begun by the bank officials.

said his critics hoped to draw with the sell-out audience which greeted Truman here at a testimonial dinner for Truman last Oct. 10. Truman stayed at McKinney's home and had many kind words to say about the former chairman, who is an Indianapolis banker.

Mitchell said he thinks the thwarted attempt to keep Truman's picture out of tonight's printed program also was intended to emphasize the contrast.

TRUMAN WROTE Mitchell a letter publicized here yesterday in which the former president said that President Eisenhower had a Democratic Congress to "go down in history as a successful President who helped save the free world."

The Truman argument was that Republicans in Congress would not support the Eisenhower foreign policies of cooperating with friendly nations and only a Democratic Congress could assure such a result.

Mitchell said he agreed fully with this thesis and there was no indication that Truman had any knowledge of what Democrats generally regarded as primarily a local fight between dissident Democratic leaders.

T.V.—STAGE—RADIO—RECORDS—PEOPLE

By DICK KLEINER

Now that the first of NBC's "spectaculars"—the Betty Hutton "Satins and Spurs"—is just a bit of high-cost history, it's interesting to draw a few conclusions about spectacles in general and this one in particular.

Conclusion No. 1—It takes more than spectacle to make a spectacular.

Conclusion No. 2—Betty Hutton has more bounce to the ounce than anybody.

Conclusion No. 3—A musical comedy without comedy is like the sea shore without the sea—pretty dry.

Conclusion No. 4—Come back, Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

A talented miss, Betty Hutton Did some spirited singin' and struttin'. But, in the vernacular, The first big spectacular Turned out to be practically nuttin'.

Howard Barlow sat at a big desk in Radio City, with the sun streaming in through a window behind him. He sat and he pondered. "If you could find a new way to put music on television," he said, "you'd make a fortune. A fortune."

Barlow has already found one way to do it. He's the musical director of the Voice of Firestone, which moved over to ABC this season. Back in '48, he helped develop the format which the show has since used on television. It's simple and, so far, the most effective.

"But, if there was some other way of doing it—

Good music, he is sure, will always be a part of our entertainment picture, and that means television. "We've had music since the monkeys and we always will," he says, "and we'll have symphonic music on television, too."

Vocalists are fairly easy to present. As Barlow says, the words they sing determine the picture you show. But orchestras, in strictly instrumental numbers, are more difficult.

"After all," Barlow says, "musicians are laborers, their union is a labor union, and they look like laborers. The picture of an orchestra is unexciting."

Barlow points out that music—classical music—is a growing attraction in the U. S. He says that some $5,000,000 more is taken in at symphony box offices each year than is collected at all organized baseball gates.

Mayor Proclaims Week for Dogs

Mayor Frederick H. Stang has proclaimed the week beginning September 19, as National Dog Week "in order to highlight properly the role of the dog in our everyday life and to place emphasis upon the need for the proper care of animals."

Theme of the week, he said, is "Vigilant," dramatizing the best qualities inherent in "man's best friend."

From the dawn of history, he proclaimed, "the dog has been loyal, trustworthy and a reliable friend of man, serving him faithfully as a companion, guardian and in many capacities of work..."

The kind treatment extended to animals frequently reflects the feeling man holds toward his fellowmen... Humane treatment and care of dogs and all other animals is a responsibility held by all members of society."

a union member.

The Grace Line, citing an edict by the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission that no changes in personnel be made, fired both Kucinskas and Dwyer.

This touched off a work stoppage at the pier, with Dwyer and Egan urging all other AFL workers "embargo" all piers, which would virtually shut down the huge port.

Yesterday, as the work stoppage at pier 45 continued, Dwyer told a meeting of the idle dockers he wanted "no part of the AFL or their union."

Egan, at the same meeting, said top AFL officials had "hung up" on him Thursday when he pleaded by telephone for a federation embargo against all the port's piers.

Both men made it plain they were willing to go back into the ILA.

Whether the ILA will have them was a question. The ILA has said it would welcome back all "rank and file" dockers who joined the IBL, but used harsh words concerning officials such as Dwyer and Egan.
